

Hussein Massoud
Chairman and CEO
EGYPTAIR Holding Company

Hussein Massoud is the Chairman & CEO of EGYPTAIR Holding Company since 1 September 2009. Before that date he was the Vice Chairman of EGYPTAIR Holding Company since April 2008.

He was a member of many strategic committees which played a key role in enhancing EGYPTAIR corporate strategy. He strengthened the capacity of EGYPTAIR and had the most influential role at this stage.

Mr. Massoud has a broad experience in the aviation industry; He was the Chairman of Smart Aviation after being member of the Board of Directors of the same company. Smart Aviation has witnessed a remarkable progress under his leadership. At the same time he was the CEO of Mirage company (Dassault Aviation).

Mr. Massoud also has an active role in many governmental and non-governmental associations including Canada Egypt Business Council, Club d'Affaires Franco Egyptien, Cairo Engineering Syndicate and he is the Chairman of the Elite Aviation Engineers Association.

Mr. Massoud spent the first 22 years of his career in the Egyptian Air Force during which he held many leading positions including 3 years in the Egyptian Embassy in Paris.

In 2006, Mr. Massoud gained his Masters of Business Administration from ESC Rennes University, France. He also got his Masters of Science from the American University in Cairo in 1991 and a Diploma in Material Engineering from the same university in 1988. He got his first academic degree of B.Sc. Mechanical Engineering (Aviation) in 1970, then B.Sc. of Military Sciences.

Furthermore, Mr. Massoud was honored with variety of medals such as the Medal of Long Service "First Grade" from the Armed Forces, Medal of Merit from the French Government "Officer Degree" and the Medal of Outstanding Duty performance "First Grade" in the 1973 war.

The Chairman was born in Cairo, Egypt in 1948. He masters English and French in addition to his Arabic mother tongue. He is married and he has a son and three daughters. He enjoys reading, swimming and playing squash.